BARBOURVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JULY 29 1910

Seventh Year, Vol. 7, No. 24

RESOLUTIONS

Adapted by the Teachers of Knox County.

We, the teachers of Knox County, Kentucky, in annual Institute assembled, adopt the following resolutions:

1. That we express our appreciation and thanks to the citizens of Barbourville for the courtesies and kindness shown us, and for the interest which they have manifested in public education in our county.

2. That we extend to Judge James D. Black, President of Union College, our appreciation and heart felt thanks for his interest in us giving us the free use of the comfortable and commodious Administration building of Union College in which to hold our institute.

Further, we desire to express our appreciation and commendation of his course in joining the educational forces of our county and State and gladly welcome him back into our rank.

3. That we extend our thanks to Mrs. John W. Hughes for the nice reception which she gave us at Brown Hall and desire to express our appreciation of the courtesy and kindness shown us.

4. That we extend to Hon. D. W. Clark, Editor of the Mountain Advocate, our thanks and appreciation for the interest which he has manifested in the Public Education of our county, and thank him for presenting us with a copy of his paper containing a list of the teachers of our county.

5. That we extend to Prof. James P. Fawcett, of Berea College, our endorsement of the great educational work which he is doing in his lectures on "Sanitation and Health". We believe that at the present no other form of education is more needed, and that no other will accomplish more good among the masses of our people.

6. That we desire to express our appreciation of the lecture given by Dr. J. W. Porter, of Lexington, Ky. His lecture is unexcelled in wit, humor and pathos.

7. That we regard this Institute the best ever held in Knox county. We believe it measures up in every respect in which an Institute should. The work is most practical, interesting and forcefully presented, and secures thought and work on the part of the teachers. We commend the wisdom of our Superintendent in securing Prof. Conates as our instructor and universally recommend that he secure him for next year.

8. That since our county Superintendent is just beginning his term of office, we desire to express to him our faith in him as the leader of the educational hosts of our county, and our confidence in his good intentions and honesty of purpose in the administrations of the duties of his office. We pledge him our hearty support in his efforts for the upbuilding of our county and the establishment of higher ideals among the teachers. We endorse the wisdom and efforts he has used for the success of this Institute.

9. That owing to the great responsibilities resting upon us as a body of teachers, we believe we should use every means to improve ourselves professionally, such as the reading and study of professional books and educational journals. We especially believe that more interest should be given our District Educational Associations, that through them we may continue an exchange of ideas and renew our interest and enthusiasm for our work, and especially reach the public and create within them an interest and educational spirit. We trust our Sup't. will take the lead in seeking to make them a success this year. We pledge ourselves to use every effort to this end.

Further, that we must have confidence in the word of the K. E. A. We believe that as its President Prof. Conates will greatly aid in making it a success. We express it as our intention that Knox county shall be better represented in point of number at its next meeting than ever before. We pledge ourselves to observe, to teach, and to urge the suggestions which he gives.

10. That second no that part of the new act and law which pertains to the method of hiring teachers as being the most undemocratic as on our statutes, and recommend that it be repealed at the next meeting of our General Assembly. We believe each district should be allowed to select its own teacher.

11. Owing to the inconvenience and disadvantages which teachers often from the irregularity of pay suffer, we recommend that our Sup't., if he can reasonably do so, make some arrangement with the banks of our town whereby teachers may receive their money on the legally designated pay day.

12. We recommend that the elements of agriculture be introduced into the public school curriculum of Kentucky in order that a greater knowledge and enthusiasm may be aroused in the occupation that a large per cent. of the pupils will adopt.

13. That we pledge ourselves to make an effort to do away with the use of tobacco in our schools, and to discourage intemperance in whatever form it may exist in the community in which we are located.

14. Since one of the teacher's greatest problems in school is non attendance. We therefore pledge ourselves to make an effort carrying out the compulsory part of our school law and also use an effort in getting the compulsory period increased.

EMMA MORRIS

Mr. Roosevelt's Forthcoming Book.

Theodore Roosevelt asks his publishers, Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, to say "in the most explicit way that we disown all connection with and all responsibility for" the spurious volumes that have been recently put on the market, ostensibly having an account of Mr. Roosevelt's hunting trip. He says:

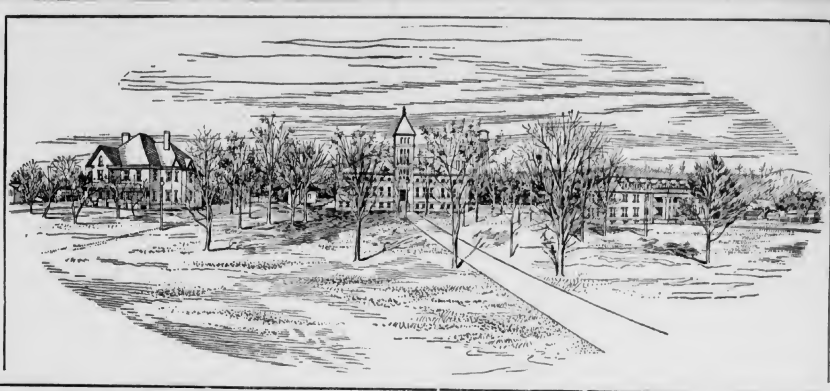

"The only account of it is that which I myself publish."

Notwithstanding the long distances travelled and the many public duties that Mr. Roosevelt has had to meet during his European tour, he has found time thoroughly to read and revise the proofs of his forthcoming volume about his African trip. There will be in this volume considerable material which has not appeared in its magazine form. It will contain in all fifteen chapters (140,000 words). There are, in addition, five appendices on such interesting topics as "Protective Coloration in Animals," "The Piskin Library," "The Habits of Small Mammals," and illustrations especially chosen from the great number of photographs taken by Kermit Roosevelt and other members of the expedition, to other with eight drawings made after the author's suggestions from authentic material. This volume, which will be published by the Scribners in August, will be a handsome large octavo of about 500 pages.

APPLICATION FOR PAROLE.

Notice is hereby given to all persons that the undersigned, Henry Carter, who was convicted of manslaughter in the Knox Circuit Court at its November term 1909, will apply to the Board of Prison Commissioners for a parole and present the necessary application therefor on the first Tuesday in September, 1910.

This the 20th day of July 1910.
Henry Carter.

UNION COLLEGE, Barbourville, Kentucky.

The above picture is a miniature representation of some of the buildings and grounds of Union College. The College is co-educational. It is prepared to afford and will afford equal advantages to young men and young women. It has SEPARATE college homes for them. Members of the Faculty will live in these Homes in close touch with the students, and thus be present and always ready and willing to give to the student any needed aid and attention. The Young Ladies' College Home will be occupied by the female members of the Faculty with the young ladies students, while some of the male members of the Faculty will live in the Young Men's College Home with the young men students. The sanitary condition of the college is first class. To so near that condition, a well arranged private sewerage system, leading to the river, has been constructed and is in operation. The College has likewise its private water system with deep water wells as water supply, college water plant, central heating and electric light plants with scientific advantages in boilers and tanks. A Faculty not out-classed anywhere in earnest, constant, conscientious devotion to duty and the welfare of the student has been adopted for the coming school year. And no effort will be omitted to make the year a highly profitable one to the student. The effort of the institution will be directed towards establishing in the life of the student, the Christian tone and habits of industry and economy. In the matter of expense to the student, emphasis, tuition, board, etc., Union College offers advantages which cannot suffer in any comparison with any other institution in the land. The coming school year will begin September 6th, 1910. For further particulars address

James D. Black, President, Barbourville, Kentucky.

JUDGE SIMS Recalls Story of Ben King and Opie Read.

Benjamin King and Opie Read were two native born Kentuckians, who, after arriving at manhood went out into the world to establish for themselves a name and reputation. Both were literary inclined, and while Read wrote many stories that have been read by all lovers of fiction, King was blessed with a more musical talent, and I became a poet of considerable renown.

In later years they both returned to Bowling Green, as that city has the distinguished honor of being the home of both of these distinguished men, and as it happened that they both returned to their boyhood home at the same time, the citizens of that city decided to show their appreciation of her sons and accordingly a banquet was spread for them and a number of the leading citizens of the city were invited to sit down with them to the feast.

It so happened that Ben King, the poet was the thirteenth man to arrive upon this eventful occasion, and as a consequence was made the butt of the joke by the merry crowd of banquetters, and especially by Opie Read, who, in a toast to Mr. King jokingly said "that he (King) would be sure to die before the year was out", and finally added "that he would die before morning."

In response to this witty toast Mr. King delivered the following witty impromptu poem entitled:

IF I SHOULD DIE TO-NIGHT.

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold
corpse and say:
Weeping and heart sick o'er my lifeless
clay.
If I should die to-night,
And you should come in deepest grief and woe.
And say: "Here's that ten dollar that I owe."
I might arise in my large white cravat
And say, "what's that?"
If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold
corpse and kneel,
Clasping my beard to show the grief
you feel,

I say, if I should die to-night
And you should come to me, and there and then
Just even hint 'bout paying me
that ten,
I might arise the while,
But I'd drop dead again.

This witty thrust at his life long friend, Opie Read, was hugely enjoyed by all present, but by none more than Read himself.

At a late hour the banquetters dispersed for their homes, and Mr. King returned to his hotel where he retired. The next morning when breakfast was announced the porter was sent to the room of Mr. King to call him for breakfast, but no response came to answer the call. The clerk was notified and upon visiting the room found Ben King dead in his bed.

This story sounds more like fiction than truth, and was doubted by the writer until Judge James C. Sims, one of the leading citizens in the Powers trial while this city was asked concerning the truthfulness of it, and he replied: "Yes I was there and heard the poem recited, and know that Ben King was found dead in his bed the next morning. I will never forget it."

So with such authority as that, we give this story to the public, not as a story of fiction, but one of the peculiar events that have happened within our State in connection with the supposed fatal 13.

We are not superstitious, but in the language of Judge Sims, "We will never sit down to banquet at a table where there are just 13 persons seated, for fear of the same results as befel Benjamin King."

JARVIS BOOSTS POWERS.

L. H. Jarvis, one of the leading business men of this city, and a staunch Republican says: "No true Republican can afford to vote against Caleb Powers, that it is the party and not the man we are voting for." He will wield a wide influence in Knox, as he is an old time electioneer.

Mr. Edwards Spoke to Voters at Court House Monday Afternoon.

Congressman D. C. Edwards is filled his engagement and spoke to the people of Knox county at the court house last Monday afternoon. The house was fairly well filled with hearers perhaps 200 or maybe 225 persons present among that number perhaps 50 were democrats while perhaps 25 were boys under age leaving within the neighborhood of 150 Republican voters present.

J. D. Tuggle, our Postmaster did the introducing while Deputy Revenue Agent M. G. Hignite did the applauding. There was any done.

The writer was not present, but we have been very reliably informed that at the least estimate 75 per cent of the Republicans present are for Caleb Powers for Congress.

The address was pronounced a very tame affair and lacked the stirring qualities that arouse and draw men to the speaker and it is generally conceded that there were no converts made here.

As one Edwards man admitted at that afternoon, "The voters have their minds made up and its no use to spend time speaking as they cannot be changed."

Old Knox will roll up a handsome majority for her favorite son Caleb Powers when Sept 13, rolls around.

Live Wire Created Sensation in Town Last Tuesday Evening.

Last Tuesday evening about 7:00 o'clock little Sibbie Harris in some manner got hold of a live wire in the rear of James D. Black's office property and could not let go screaming, and her father Harvey Harris ran to her rescue and grabbed the wire, and to his surprise he too was chained to the spot and could not let go.

His screams brought his wife to the scene and she attempted to pull them away and all were severely shocked but finally the combined efforts broke the hold and they were released with severe burns on their hands and a thoroughly shocked system.

Several spectators who were attracted to the scene were also shocked by coming in contact with the wire before they realized what was the matter.

The commotion attracted a large crowd to the scene.

MIDDLESBORO FIRE Four Saloons and Restaurant Burned, Entailing Loss of $25,000.

Middlesboro, Monday night fire destroyed property valued at $55,000, here on Louthbury avenue, near the Union passenger station. Four saloons, belonging to Wilson Bros., Smith & Hadwell, John O. Perrigan and two restaurants were burned. The insurance on the buildings and stocks was about $13,000. Fire originated in the kitchen of the restaurant over Perrigan's saloon and but for the quick and effective work of the fire department, the whole section would have been destroyed. The burned section will be replaced with brick buildings.

AMONG THE SICK.

Mrs. Will Jarvis is quite ill at her home on School street, suffering from an attack of pneumonia fever.

Thomas Hale who has been ill with an attack of typhoid fever is now convalescent and unless a relapse sets up, will be out again in a few days.

Mrs. C. C. Smith has about recovered from a short illness.

Will Riley is confined to his room with an attack of fever.

Miss Flora Smith has been indisposed for the past few days.

Mrs. J. D. Main suffered a light stroke of paralysis on last Monday night but is somewhat improved at this writing.

SHALL OLD SOLDIERS BE PERMITTED TO SPEND THEIR LAST DAYS IN PEACE?

The above may seem to be a strange question, yet it is pertinent. Why should not those who when their liberty was threatened; when their rights were being trampled upon; who when the preservation of the union depended upon their loyalty. Why should not those who gave to their country, to the flag they loved so well the full measure of life's devotion, to the end that if they could not their prosperity might live in a free country. They were soldiers at a time when it tried men's souls to be a soldier, why not let them spend their last days in peace. We see him whose frail form is now bent, whose voice trembles on his words and who totters as he leans upon his staff, because of his service to his country. We see him in the prime of young manhood when the shades of night were creeping into every nook, at the fireside of his peaceful home with his wife and baby. The father tells with bated breath of the call to arms, and that he must go.

The wife and mother is sorely troubled for it is perhaps the last evening they will spend together. Perhaps the next time she hears of him she will be a widow, and her innocent babe that has just learned to call for papa will be an orphan, but she is brave. One last embrace; one last lingering kiss, and she stands motionless while he walks over to the tunnel bed where the baby is sleeping. He raises the tiny hand to his quivering lips and leaves a kiss. The baby stirs, opens its eyes and softly says "Good night papa" then turns upon its pillow and sleeps again. With tear bedimmed eyes he turns away and steals out through the night to answer the call of duty.

It is not a shame that after these years of toil, hardship and privations, now that they are in the twilight of time for them, that they cannot be allowed to spend their last days in peace. Soon they will hear the last tattoo, that will tell them into that dreamless sleep never again to be aroused by the bugle's sharp reveille. Let us ask again if they will be permitted to spend their last days in peace, or must they serve some politician to make sure that the pension the government has provided for them will not be disturbed. We understand that Charles E. Fuller, of Illinois, introduced and had passed a law, giving old soldiers an increase on their pensions, according to age limit. We further understand that Representative Sherwood, of Ohio, introduced and had passed a bill giving all disabled soldiers a dollar a day pension. Yet our Representative, D. C. Edwards has falsely represented to many of the old soldiers that he got their pensions, or increase of pension, as the case may be, for them. Mr. Edwards you know that it is wrong to make such representations. Why do you do it? Is it to make them think that you performed a duty that you neglected? To prove the assurance that you did make misrepresentations to them we print the following affidavits of two old soldiers.

AFFIDAVIT.

The affiant S. G. Morgan states that he is a resident and merchant as Pine Knot, Whitley County Kentucky; that George W. Manning, of Pine Knot, Ky, is a pensioner; that affiant wrote a letter to the Commissioner of Pensions in January 1910 stating to him that the said Manning was now over 75 years of age and was entitled to an increase of his pension from $15 to $20 per month under an act of Congress of Feb. 6th, 1907; that the said Commissioner of Pensions after some correspondence and the filling out of the necessary blanks, wrote the said Manning that his had been increased and sent him a certificate to that effect bearing date Feb. 25, 1910.

Affiant says that neither he nor the said Manning had any sort of correspondence with Congressman D. C. Edwards about the said increase of pension one way or the other; but that a few days after the said Manning received his certificate of increase from the Commissioner of Pensions, that the said EDWARDS WROTE MANNING, CLAIMING THAT HE HAD SUCCEEDED IN GETTING THE SAID MANNING'S PENSION INCREASED, when as a matter of fact, he had not even been written to about it.

Affiant says that the said Manning cannot write and that affiant did all the correspondence for him regarding the said increase of the said pension.

AFFIDAVIT.

The affiant Robert C. Spencer, Pine Knot, Ky; states that he was a Union Soldier in the Civil War; that about four years ago he employed W. W. Dudley, a lawyer of Washington City, to get for affiant a pension; that after the necessary proof was secured the said Dudley succeeded in getting a pension of $10 per month for the said affiant; that affiant did not write D. C. Edwards, who was there in Congress a single line about it; that the Commissioner of Pensions wrote affiant and sent him a certificate showing that affiant's pension had been allowed, and that along with said letter from said Commissioner, he received a letter from said Edwards in which he stated that he had been "At great pains and expense" to secure this Pension for affiant when as a matter of fact, the said Edwards had not had anything to do with the matter one way or the other.

Affiant further states that later on, he employed the same Mr. Dudley to get for him an increase on his pension; that the said

Dudley did get the increase and that the said Edwards again wrote affiant claiming that he had been put at great pains in getting said Pension increased, when affiant did not even write him about it at all.

Girls Learn to Use Your Toes

Girls to put up a good appearance must learn to walk correctly. And in walking, the toes give that poise we call carriage; points out a woman writer in the New Idea Woman's Magazine for August.

The guiding principal in the care of the feet is the absolute freedom of the toes.

In walking, as the heel is walking the toes should be pushed firmly downward to give impetus forward.

Most people walk with the ankle the toes assisting very little. The girls I was teaching how to walk practiced on soft ground in their bare feet and instinctively they grasped at the earth with their toes, showing in every moment of the foot that these ten digits were really useful members of the society and should not willingly be condemned to disuse.

My first objection to a pair of shoes one held up was that the toes were to be pointed and that instead of having a straight line from heel to toe, which the natural foot represents they had an outward curve which pulled the great toe out of position and strained the ligaments which supported the arch. This pulling of the great toe out of position caused the inner part of the foot to sag and the whole foot to rotate outward. These were the first symptoms of flat foot.

Next we studied the ordinary Cuban heels, which the shoe dealer insists are sensible. They were too narrow at the base and placed too near the middle of the foot. This method of placing the heel under the middle of the shoe to try and deceive the public and the wearer as to the size of the foot may be successful in its purpose, but at what a cost to the wearer.

The heel should be broad and under the back of the shoe. It need necessarily be flat, but it must be so placed that the weight of the body is supported equally by the heel and the ball of the foot.

"The Survival of the fittest"

The advent to Kentucky of the Teletop system of telegraphy with its 2000 words a minute service and maximum rates of one cent per word, regardless of time or distance means much to every resident of this State. From Louisville to which it has just been extended from Indianapolis, it will soon spread out its lines to all parts of the state we are credibly advised.

This system was the first to introduce to this country the letter telegram, which has been a boon of inestimable value to the nation and it claims to have forced the older companies to emulate its example in order to meet its competition in those cities and states in which it has been commercially operating for the last year and a half. Its challenge to the Western Union and Postal to move their restriction from their "letter" service, which they limit to the six hours between midnight and 6 o'clock in the morning has never been met and it is not likely to be. It is to accept as a fact the statement of their officers that it is a losing business except when regarded as a by-product for transmission when the wires are otherwise idle. The Teletop maintains no time or other embargo of any kind on any feature of its business, its charges being uniform, like U. S. postage to all parts of the country, at all hours of the day or night.

Kentucky has been as keen for a less expensive and more efficient telegraph system as has the rest of the country and if the Teletop can meet the now universal demand for a superior telegraph service at a fraction of the cost of the hand operated system, its welcome to the blue grass state will more than cordial and of abiding character.

Honest competition is always salutary and, productive of wholesome good to the people, especially when public service corporations are involved. Nowadays, more than ever it is a case of the survival of the fittest with no favors shown. While sometimes fickle in its favor the public will always incline toward the conservation of its pocketbook, however biased it may be in other things. If the Teletop can save the public money and at the same time furnish its patrons with a more expeditious and satisfactory service it will be sure to command popular support and be regarded as a valuable acquisition to the state.

(From London Sentinel,
June 23.)

Edwards refused to sign the petition for Caleb Powers, whom he had always claimed to be a persecuted political prisoner. But we remember when a certain man that had come to London about the same time Edwards came from Kansas, was being tried for the murder of a Mountain girl, whose dying statement was that this man had seduced her under promise of marriage and performed an abortion upon her.--when this man sought freedom, Mr. Edwards gladly wrote "in confidence" to the Governor, asking that he be pardoned. This shows clearly how much this man Edwards thinks of the Mountain People.

LOCAL LOOM REVIVITIES.

Work has begun on the Catholic Church in this city. The corner stone was laid Wednesday afternoon by Father Ambrose.

Dock's Restaurant, run by Hiram Taylor and Company. They will serve ice cold drinks of all kinds, ice cream and cake, fresh candies, ham-burg sandwiches and coffee. In fact all kind of good things to eat.

Also has up-to-date clothes cleaning and pressing department.

—The life of our editor was saved the other day by a silver dollar in his pocket. A cat shot at him and the ball struck the dollar. Now should he happen to get shot before you pay up your subscription and there is no dollar to stop the ball we shall always presume you might have saved our life.

—To poor to take a home paper? Well, that is a distressful condition, buy a hen, feed her crumbs and waste from the kitchen and she will lay eggs to pay for a year's subscription; then work her up into pot pie and she will pay first cost; so the paper will be clear profit. Repeat this progress year after year, meanwhile learn wisdom and cease to be poor.

Resolutions of Respect.

The death angel has once more invaded our ranks and plucked from our number a true and loyal brother and again brings to us that sacred admonition "Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble."

The great architect of the universe has seen fit in his infinite wisdom for reasons better known to himself than to us to call our brother S. M. White to that house not made by hands eternal in the heaven.

Therefore be it.

Resolved that in the death of bro White this lodge has lost a good and loyal brother the church and country a christian gentleman, the family a devoted husband and father. We are at a loss for words to express our sympathies to the bereaved wife and orphan children ever remembering to point the needle to him who has said I will temper the wind to the shorn lamb and be the Widow's God.

Resolved that a page of our record be set apart for these resolutions and a copy sent the family also a copy the Mountain Advocate for publication.

All of which is fraternally submitted in F. L. and T.

Just a Little Mother.

She's just a little mother in a cabin far away;
Since I kissed her in the gloaming 'tis forever and a day
In my dreams I hear her calling, calling o'er the weary sea.
"Come ye back to Ballyshannon, Katy dear come back to me."

She's standing in the doorway, filling up the little space,
With her kerchief o'er her bosom and the fringe around her face.
She is smiling as Our Lady smiles above the Holy Child,
And my heart runs forth to meet her, o'er the waste of waters wild.

Do you know our Ballyshannon, where the winds are sweet
With the saltiness of the sea-loam and the tang of smoldering peat?

Do you know our miss that told us in a blanket soft and gray,
Do you know our Ballyshannon in the red-rose dawn of day?

Then you've seen the little mother, just herself, so small and old,
With a look I'm sure would warm you were you shivering with the cold.

Oh, so mirthful and so patient, she whose work is never done.
Oh, so ready with her laughter, at the rise and set of sun.

In the great house where I'm serving, folks are ever kind to me
But they do not guess my yearning for the cabin over sea.

Wage I earn and wage I send her. Yet I cannot longer bide,
I must seek my little mother, I must nestle at her side.

She's just a little mother in a cabin far away;
Since I kissed her in the gloaming 'tis forever and a day.

In my dreams she's calling, calling! "Mother, darling, yes, I'll come."

I'll go back to Ballyshannon, to my mother and my home."
—Margaret E. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion.

WEDDING BELLS.

The many friends here of Miss Nell Lane will be surprised to learn that on last Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the parlor of the Willard Hotel in Louisville, she was married to Mr. Thomas Webb, of Knoxville, Tenn. The Rev. A. C. Fellows officiating.

After receiving the congratulations of her friends who had gathered there to witness the ceremony, they left over the L. & N. for their future home in Knoxville, Tenn. They stopped off on Sunday in Corbin and were met there by her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gates as well as some other friends from here who had been apprised of the wedding and who desired to meet them there and personally extend congratulations.

Mr. Webb is a prosperous young business man of excellent reputation for morality and business qualifications.

The bride was one of our choicest young ladies. From a little girl she has grown up in our midst, honored and loved by old and young alike. She has ever been a bright star in the home circle, and now she has gone to reign as queen in her own home. The groom is almost a stranger to us but judging from what the bride is worthy of, he is a good and noble man.

The happy young couple were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents, and the best wishes of the entire community goes out to the happy couple for their future success.

The Park

Palms,

"CAYO COSTA."

Key of the Coast,

THIS IDEAL RESIDENCE AND BUSINESS LOCATION INVITES YOU TO COME AND MAKE YOUR HOME HERE.

The greatest future lies before this delightful spot of any place in the South or Southwest to-day, and bids you come and live while the opportunity to secure a site is within the reach of everyone.

Where Cayo Costa Is:

Cayo Costa is an island situated on the Southern coast of Florida and separated from the main land by Charlotte Harbor.

The northern end of this island forms the southern side of the deep-water entrance or inlet from the Gulf of Mexico into Charlotte Harbor in Lee County, Florida, known as Boca Grande (Spanish for Great Mouth). Charlotte Harbor and Boca Grande are the finest, largest and deepest natural harbor and channel on the Florida coast.

This has the advantage over all other harbors in the State by reason of its being situated farthest south.

It is the most southern point on the Gulf coast of this State at which it is practicable to make substantial and permanent deep-water terminals for railroads, for their steamship connections, as is evidenced by the soundings of this channel and bay, and by the geography and topography of the coast southward, as well as the fact that all railroads already operating there and those proposed and projected leading farthest south on the Gulf coast make this Pass their terminals.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway is completed and in operation to a point near Boca Grande and will be completed to that point before long. The C. H. & N. Railway is completed to Boca Grande Pass, and has been in operation to that point over two years. Both of the above named railroads are north of the Pass or Inlet. The Atlantic Coast Line Railway, which now terminates at Fort Myers on Caloosahatchee, and which passes within twenty-five miles of Boca Grande, will run a terminal to the south side of the Pass through Cayo Costa in order to keep pace with these other railroads in touching the best harbor and the deepest water.

Boca Grande is recognized as one of the most advantageous harbors in Florida, from which to establish steamship lines to Cuba and Gulf ports, and, in the event of the Panama Canal being completed and operated, Boca Grande and steamship connections will be directly upon the commercial highway of the world.

For fish and oyster business, for an outlet for phosphate, lumber, naval stores, cattle, fruit and truck shipments from the interior, this place cannot be surpassed and is now being extensively used as such. And upon the land contiguous to and in the same vicinity of Boca Grande is being developed one of the most popular resorts for tourists, health and pleasure seekers at all seasons, sportsmen, tarpon fishers and yachtsmen in the United States, and one of the most important commercial cities in the South.

This subdivision is contiguous to the Naval and Military reservation of the United States Government which covers the northern point of the island and cannot be bought. It is a very fine black sand beach across the island from Gulf to Bay, having over half a mile water frontage on each side, and, excepting the said reservation, is the best land to the pass or inlet.

It is small area south of and very near this deep and broad inlet, contiguous to the Gulf on one side and the bay on the other, has the best water protection against wind and is the most nearly free from frosts of any spot in the State, and the soil is well adapted to the growth of coconut, date and other palm trees and plants and a variety of all other tropical ornamental and fruit trees and plants.

These gulf key lands are the most healthful we have in the State, being absolutely free from malaria, and this key is completely surrounded by the purest and deepest of deep-sea water.

This key has over seven miles of most beautiful gulf beach front, which is the finest place in Florida for surf bathing, while on the bay side is splendid harbor for any size of boat, as well as the best fishing ground in the State.

The reservation referred to is of the same character of land and soil as the land embraced in this subdivision of Cayo Costa, is a most beautiful natural park, containing several hundred acres, which will remain perpetually public land and, adjoining this property, lands of great value.

The acreage of this island is limited to the extent that it will all be used and occupied, for which reason lots here will command high prices in a short time. This is not a fake, nor a cheap backwoods subdivision, but is something that can be resold at a good profit at any time.

The owner of this land has sold a number of lots to friends and neighbors who now reap the value of this property, and is now placing a number of lots upon the market for sale.

We have secured the privilege of selling just 25 lots in this ideal location. The lots are 56x130 ft. each, all fronting on a 20 ft. street and running back to a 20 ft. alley.

The price, for a very limited time only, on these lots, is $1000 per lot, payable $100 cash with the order and $15 per month until all is paid.

Read What A Kentuckian, Who Knows This Property Says of It.

Mr. D. W. Clark,

Barbourville, Ky.

Dear Sir:

I have just happened in Mr. Land's office and he said he was going to send you one of the maps of "Cayo Costa"—work of my hands—and also that you desired some of the lots.

As Engineer, personally surveyed and plotted the fine piece of land and am more than satisfied that you will find the land and location better than told to you.

I was Engineer for the Pine Mountain Iron & Coal Co., at Pineville, for some years, and later was City Engineer of Pineville, and again later with the American Association, at Middlesborough.

I trust you may get up a lot of Kentuckians who will accept of the generous offer extended, and who will build there. I expect to go down next month and want some fine-blooded Kentuckians to be my neighbors. My home is at Frankfort, Ky., which place of course you will know.

You can safely recommend this property as FIRST CLASS in every respect, and I have been told from childhood that a Kentuckian's word is good. I hope to see you soon.

Yours truly,

J. H. GRAY

One-fourth of all money received on the sale of lots will be expended in street improvements of this subdivision for the benefit of investors.

Purchasers will not be required to pay taxes until after the expiration of two years from date of application for lots.

Cash purchases will be discounted five per cent.

No interest will be charged on deferred payments.

Warranty should be delivered to purchaser with an abstract of the showing record and a certificate that at the time of payment for purchase is made.
